MONTHLY WEATHER REPORT FOR JULY

T. J. Conditine, local weather observer of the United States Bureau, has just issued a most complete and comprehensive monthly climatological summary for the month of July, showing the facts regarding weather for the following:

The average temperature for the month of July 70 degrees is the highest July average in the history of the station. During the month there were but four days when the highest temperature fell below 80 to more degrees, the average being 82 and the average lowest 65 degrees, with an average daily range between the day and night temperature of 23 degrees and the range, marked with a low barometer, made the month as a whole pleasant although the average temperature exceeded the normal by about three degrees daily.

The rainfall, 5.94 inch, is the largest in July during the past 25 years, except the year 1889-1890.

The percentage of humidity, 65, is a low average for that season, compared with previous years.

There were no high winds during the month and but one July 19, but the record stands in previous years.

Agent HARMON BENTON RETURNS FROM COLLEGE.

Harmon Benton, agent for the Shreveport, La., and Houston, Tex., and other counties, has just returned from college. Benton, who is a member of the Shreveport, La., and Houston, Tex., and other counties, has just returned from college.

The whole meeting was conducted along the line of instruction. County agents discussed the most vital problems in their counties. Mr. Benton discussed the efficiency of the County Agent, the Feeding of Live Stock on the Farm, Wheat Growing and Raising Grain Sorghums in the Plains. The exchange of ideas among the agents was very helpful in assisting the county agent in carrying out instructions in the Washington office and the college.

Speakers at the college gave lectures and demonstrations on Making Spray Materials, Hog Cholera and the Use of Serum, Blackleg and Incubation for the Prevention of Cattle Rabies, Abortion, Spraying Orchards, Texas Fever, Baiting and Girdling Plants and Vegetables, Lymphitis in Horses and Mules, Anthrax and Other fatal diseases, and diseases of swine.

During the week of July 20, 1916, the college agents (consultants) began their work and they have their work in progress to assist the county agent in carrying out instructions in the Washington office and the college.

The college agents will be in the field only the first of the month.

SOUTHERN CATTLEMEN

INVITE CITY "BOARD"

The following communication has been received by the Agricultural committee of the Board of City Development, inviting this city to be represented at the Shreveport convention of the Southern Cattlemen's Association.

Memphis, Tenn. July 26, 1916. "Enclosed is a program of the Fourth Annual Meeting, Southern Cattlemen's Association, which meets in Shreveport, La. next month. In discussions are that we will have the best meeting ever held by this Association. A strong program made up of speakers of national reputation, extra sales in which 100 head of beef and dairy cattle will be sold in the afternoon and evening sessions, and the Louisiana Holstein Breeders' Association, reduced rates on all southern railroads combine to make this a very attractive meeting.

This is already the largest and most active Live Stock Organization in the south or southwest, but we are not anxious to materially increase our membership. The dues are small, $2.00 per year. May we have your application together with check, no later than August 1st, so that we can be assured this meeting. You cannot make a trip this year from which you will derive more profit and pleasure. The city of Shreveport is planning to entertain you in a very becoming manner.

Yours truly,
T. A. BUTLER,
Secretary.

BRIDGE GETS NO CHANGED NAME THROUGH MARRIAGE

Wednesday afternoon Judge T. W. Metcalf of the county court performed a marriage ceremony uniting Seth A. Long and Mrs. Mary A. Long. The couple met only a short time ago in New Mexico, and were not in any way related. Mrs. Mary A. Long became her recent marriage, she is Mrs. Mary A. Long now. This is an exceptional case and attracted considerable attention at the court house where the facts were known.

The Ladies' Store will sell for today only 100 dresses, values $1 to $10, for 25c.
